

Open Meeting Industrial Union.

The ladies of Monett no doubt appreciate the effort made by members of the "Union" in securing the services of three such experts in the millinery line as Mr. William Dheirmills and his assistant, Mr. Knappah, designers of French fashions, late of Paris, and Mr. John Walshab, modiste in chief to her majesty Queen Algardrice, and Prof. Blainier and Mr. Frank Weightmeim (these last two only design the headwear of their wives). These gentlemen kindly consented to display their ability in the hat trimming line at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis on Wednesday evening when the Union held one of their levees.

Mrs. Davis, the hostess was assisted by Mesdames Lehnard, Ring, Ford, Tanler, Fleming, Draper, Combe and Peel. The Davis home can accommodate a large crowd and on this occasion it was full to overflowing.

Everyone seemed to be out for a good time and in an informal manner enjoyed themselves to the utmost. This was appreciated by the hostess and assistants as the crowded condition of the rooms made it impossible to carry out the plans as arranged.

It does all good to spend a few hours in conversation with friends and neighbors and the hearty greeting bestowed on each by Mr. and Mrs. Davis, assured them the right to enjoy the evening to the fullest.

The entire house was opened to guests. The dressing rooms and gentleman's smoking room was upstairs.

The dining table was decorated with cutflowers. The large window in the dining room was filled with beautiful plants and each room was well arranged for this occasion.

The ladies served an abundant luncheon of coffee and cake, sandwiches and chicken salad.

At a late hour the crowd departed after assuring the hostess that each one had spent an evening of real pleasure.
